Office of the Chancellor

Dear Students:

I join with the entire university family in congratulating you all for accomplishing a great achievement in your lives. The memories of this milestone in your development should always be cherished and this yearbook clearly illustrates our university's continued sense of excitement in our accomplishments and yours in the past year. I know that you will come to value the contents of this publication as symbols of your experience at WSSU.

Recalling our motto, "Enter to Learn, Depart to Serve," know graduates, the weight of the legacy you carry is indeed tremendous when you consider the achievements and service of past generations, as well as the hopes and dreams of those who will come after you. Your success here has well equipped you to carry that legacy forward. Be proud of your accomplishment, as we are proud of what you have accomplished. As you go forth into the global marketplace, know that our hopes for your success go with you.

For returning Rams, this yearbook and the yearbooks to follow represents a history of the exciting and often defining events of your experience here at WSSU. We hope that experience has been both enlightening and fruitful. You have witnessed major changes taking place at your alma mater, which will serve you and the university well into the future. When you return in the fall, we will continue to deliver on our promise to do all we can to prepare you for the challenges ahead.

Remember that as you depart your alma mater to take your place in the world to serve, you will always have a place of honor with the university family.

With very best regards,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Harold L. Martin, Sr." in a cursive script.

The Black Male Symposium

Jonathan Murray helps WBSU pay honor to Dr. Michael Dyson with a plaque in appreciation of his service during the symposium.

Dr. Dyson took time to encourage young males who were present at the symposium.

Students were given an opportunity to purchase Dr. Dyson's publications like, Why I Love Black Women.

Many community supporters of WBSU came out and participated in the festivities.

Mr. Ram, Alan Braun, was in attendance for the symposium.

Students listened attentively to Dr. Dyson.

Dr. Michael Dyson has published many inspirational books that cater to uplifting the black male.

Members from the student organization, Black Men for Changes, were present and were given the chance to mingle with Dr. Dyson.

Red & White Parade

Mr. Ram and Ebony Briggs watch as the Marching Rams perform for the Ram Family

The Early Childhood Development Center got their time in the spotlight by marching in the parade dressed in their red and white.

Phil Javies, a member of the well-respected cheerleading squad, showed his school spirit by performing some crowd pleasers, while wearing the uniforms of some of his fellow cheerleaders.

Founder's Day

Members of administration took in the encouraging words of Rev. Clifford Jones.

SGA President Kristie Swink addressed attendees during the celebration of WSSU's founder, S.G. Atkins.

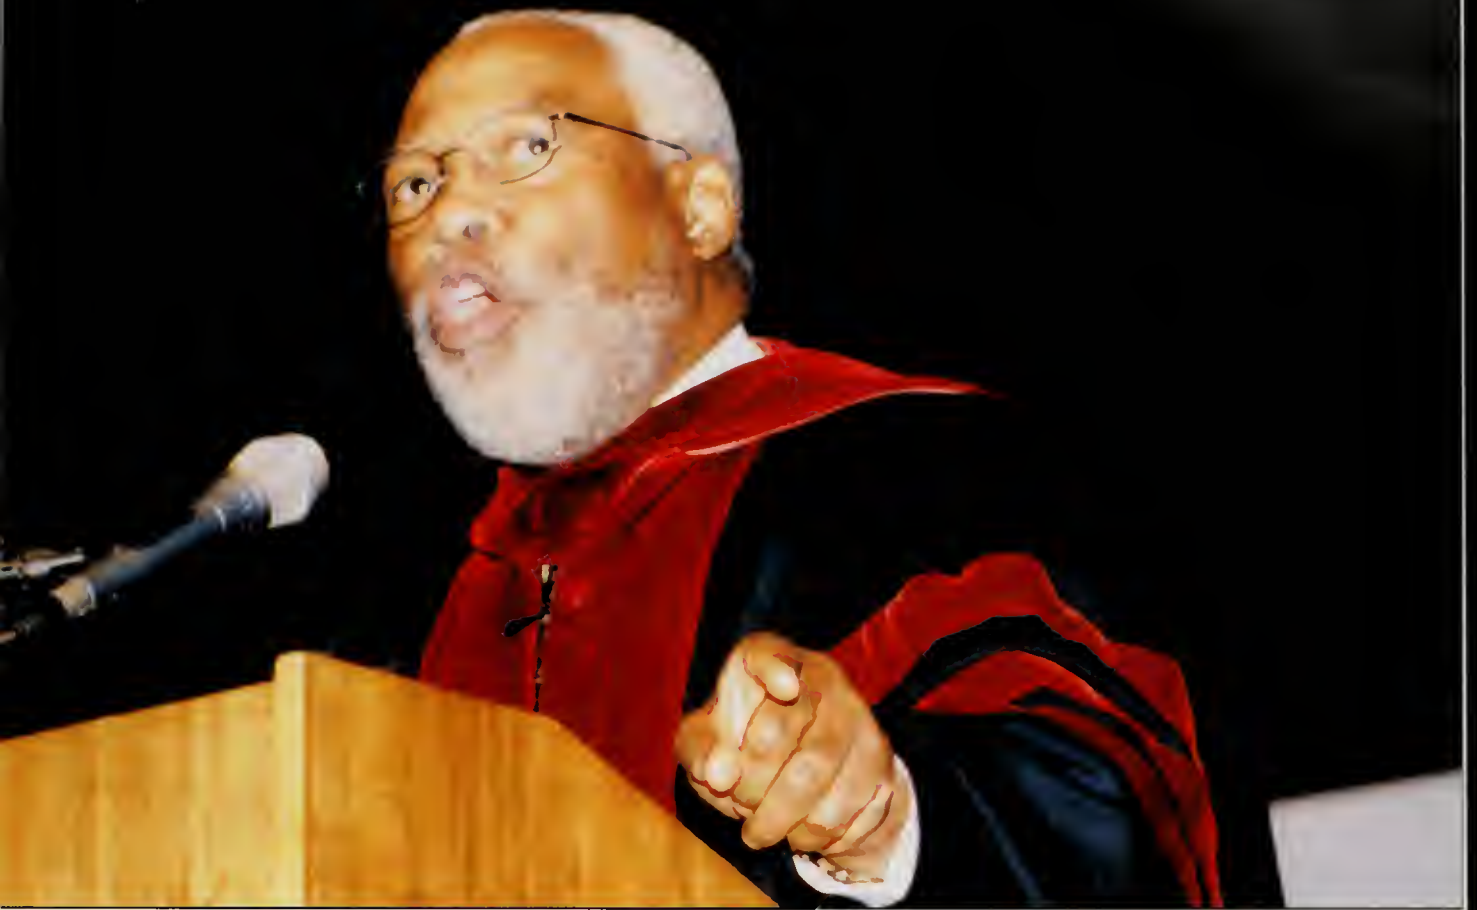

The university choir sings during the celebration under the direction of Mrs. D'Walla Burke.

Members of the Class of 1953 participated in Founder's Day and donated more than $23,000 to WSSU's Foundation.

Rev. Clifford Jones addressed faculty, staff, students, and alumni during celebration in honor of WSSU's founder, Simon G. Atkins.

Faculty and staff sing the school's alma mater.

Chancellor Martin listens attentively to the encouraging words of Rev. Jones.

Christmas Tree Lighting

The Inspirational Voices bring good tidings of Christmas cheer to students and faculty during dinner.

Treamont Veale, Dr. Deborah Fountain, Mr. Theo Howard, and Alexis Watts all discuss their plans for the holiday season.

Dr. Melody Pierce, Chancellor and Mrs. Martin, Kristie Swink (SGA President), Miss WSSU and Mr. Ram all smile for the camera.

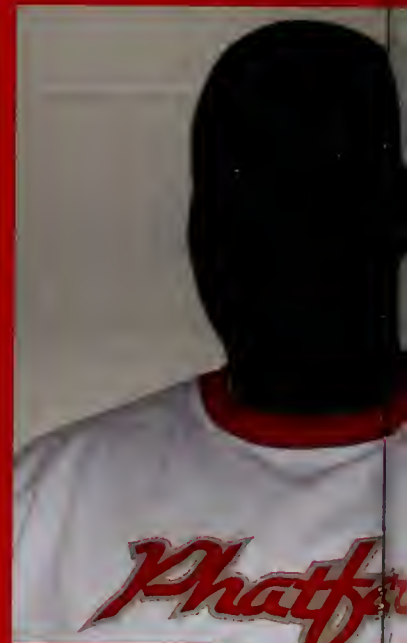

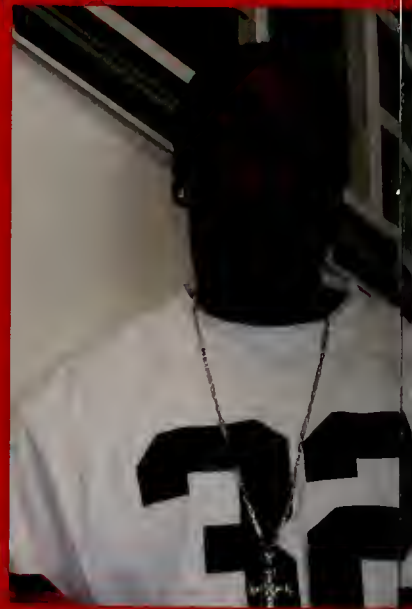

Members of the Jazz Ensemble are setting the melody for yet another memorable holiday in Ram Country.

Everyone at this table is taking a break after dinner before returning for more delicious food.

Dr. Dorothy Height

Dr. Dorothy Height was born prior to World War I in 1912 in Richmond, Virginia. She was educated in the public schools in Rankin, Pennsylvania. At a very early age, she established herself as a dedicated student with exceptional oratorical skills. It is not surprising that even as a young woman of 25, she heeded the call of Mary McLeod Bethune, founder of the National Council of Negro Women, to join in her quest for women's full and equal employment and educational advancement. By that time, Dr. Height's career as a civil rights advocate had begun to unfold as she worked to prevent lynching, desegregate the armed forces, reform the criminal justice system, and create free access to public accommodations. That same year, Dr. Height began her work with the National Young Women's Christian Association (YWCA) of the USA. She rose quickly through the ranks and held several leadership positions. Assuming responsibility for developing leadership training activities for volunteers and staff, she also developed programs to promote interracial and ecumenical education. Dr. Height is credited with developing the strategies to ensure the success of the YWCA's mission to provide equal opportunity and facilities for women of all cultures and nationalities. She was one of the major leaders of the Civil Rights Movement of the 1960's. These were fear-filled, challenging times. To create a dialogue about the Civil Rights Movement, she organized "Wednesdays in Mississippi," bringing together Southern and Northern white and black women. Her belief in honoring the diversity of America is seen in her promotion of interfaith, interracial, and ecumenical movements. Having served as the president of the National Council of Negro Women for over 40 years, Dr. Height's work has helped countless women in America and around the world participate in democratic reform resulting in new opportunities for themselves, their families, and their communities.

Some of WSSU's finest students meet and greet Dr. Dorothy Height during her book signing.

Dr. Elwanda Ingram, Dr. Height and Coach C.E. Gaines pause for a photograph.

Dr. Madeline Scales, Mayor Pro-Temp Vivian Burke, and Dr. Height converse about the afternoon event.

Dr. Height and student Adrienne McInnis smile for the camera.

First lady of WSSU, Mrs. Davida Martin, gives the welcome address.

Chancellor Martin and student leaders smile for the camera.

Dear Yo-Yo,

You have made us so proud as a daughter, sister, niece, cousin and friend.

You have grown into a beautiful, intelligent, smart and outstanding young lady. Though life may have its good days and bad days, its ups and downs, you've continued to press your way toward the mark and kept your eye on the prize.

Continue to be steadfast, unmovable and always abounding in your work for as much as you know that labor is not vain. May God continue to bless you.

 Loved And Blessed

Maynesha,

We remember when you were little, and your legs could not touch the floor. You were too small to reach, and needed our help to open the door. We've watched you grow into a beautiful young lady as the days have flown by, Through time, you've matured, developed dreams, and your expectations are high. You've grown in body, mind, and soul-and now you're ready to soar. A new chapter of your life is waiting-waiting for you to open the door. Just remain faithful in worship and honest to God as you now are each day, and he will show you the right door to open, and He will light the way. We love you and cherish every minute that we've spent with you! Let God direct you in all your endeavors, in everything you do! But remember, you will always be our "little" girl, no matter where life leads! We'll be here to cheer you on, and help you with life's challenging needs.

In Loving Memory Of Walter Allyn Harley

Afterglow

I'd like the memory of me to be a happy one.

I'd like to leave an
afterglow of smiles
when life is done.

I'd like to leave an echo whispering
softly down
the ways.

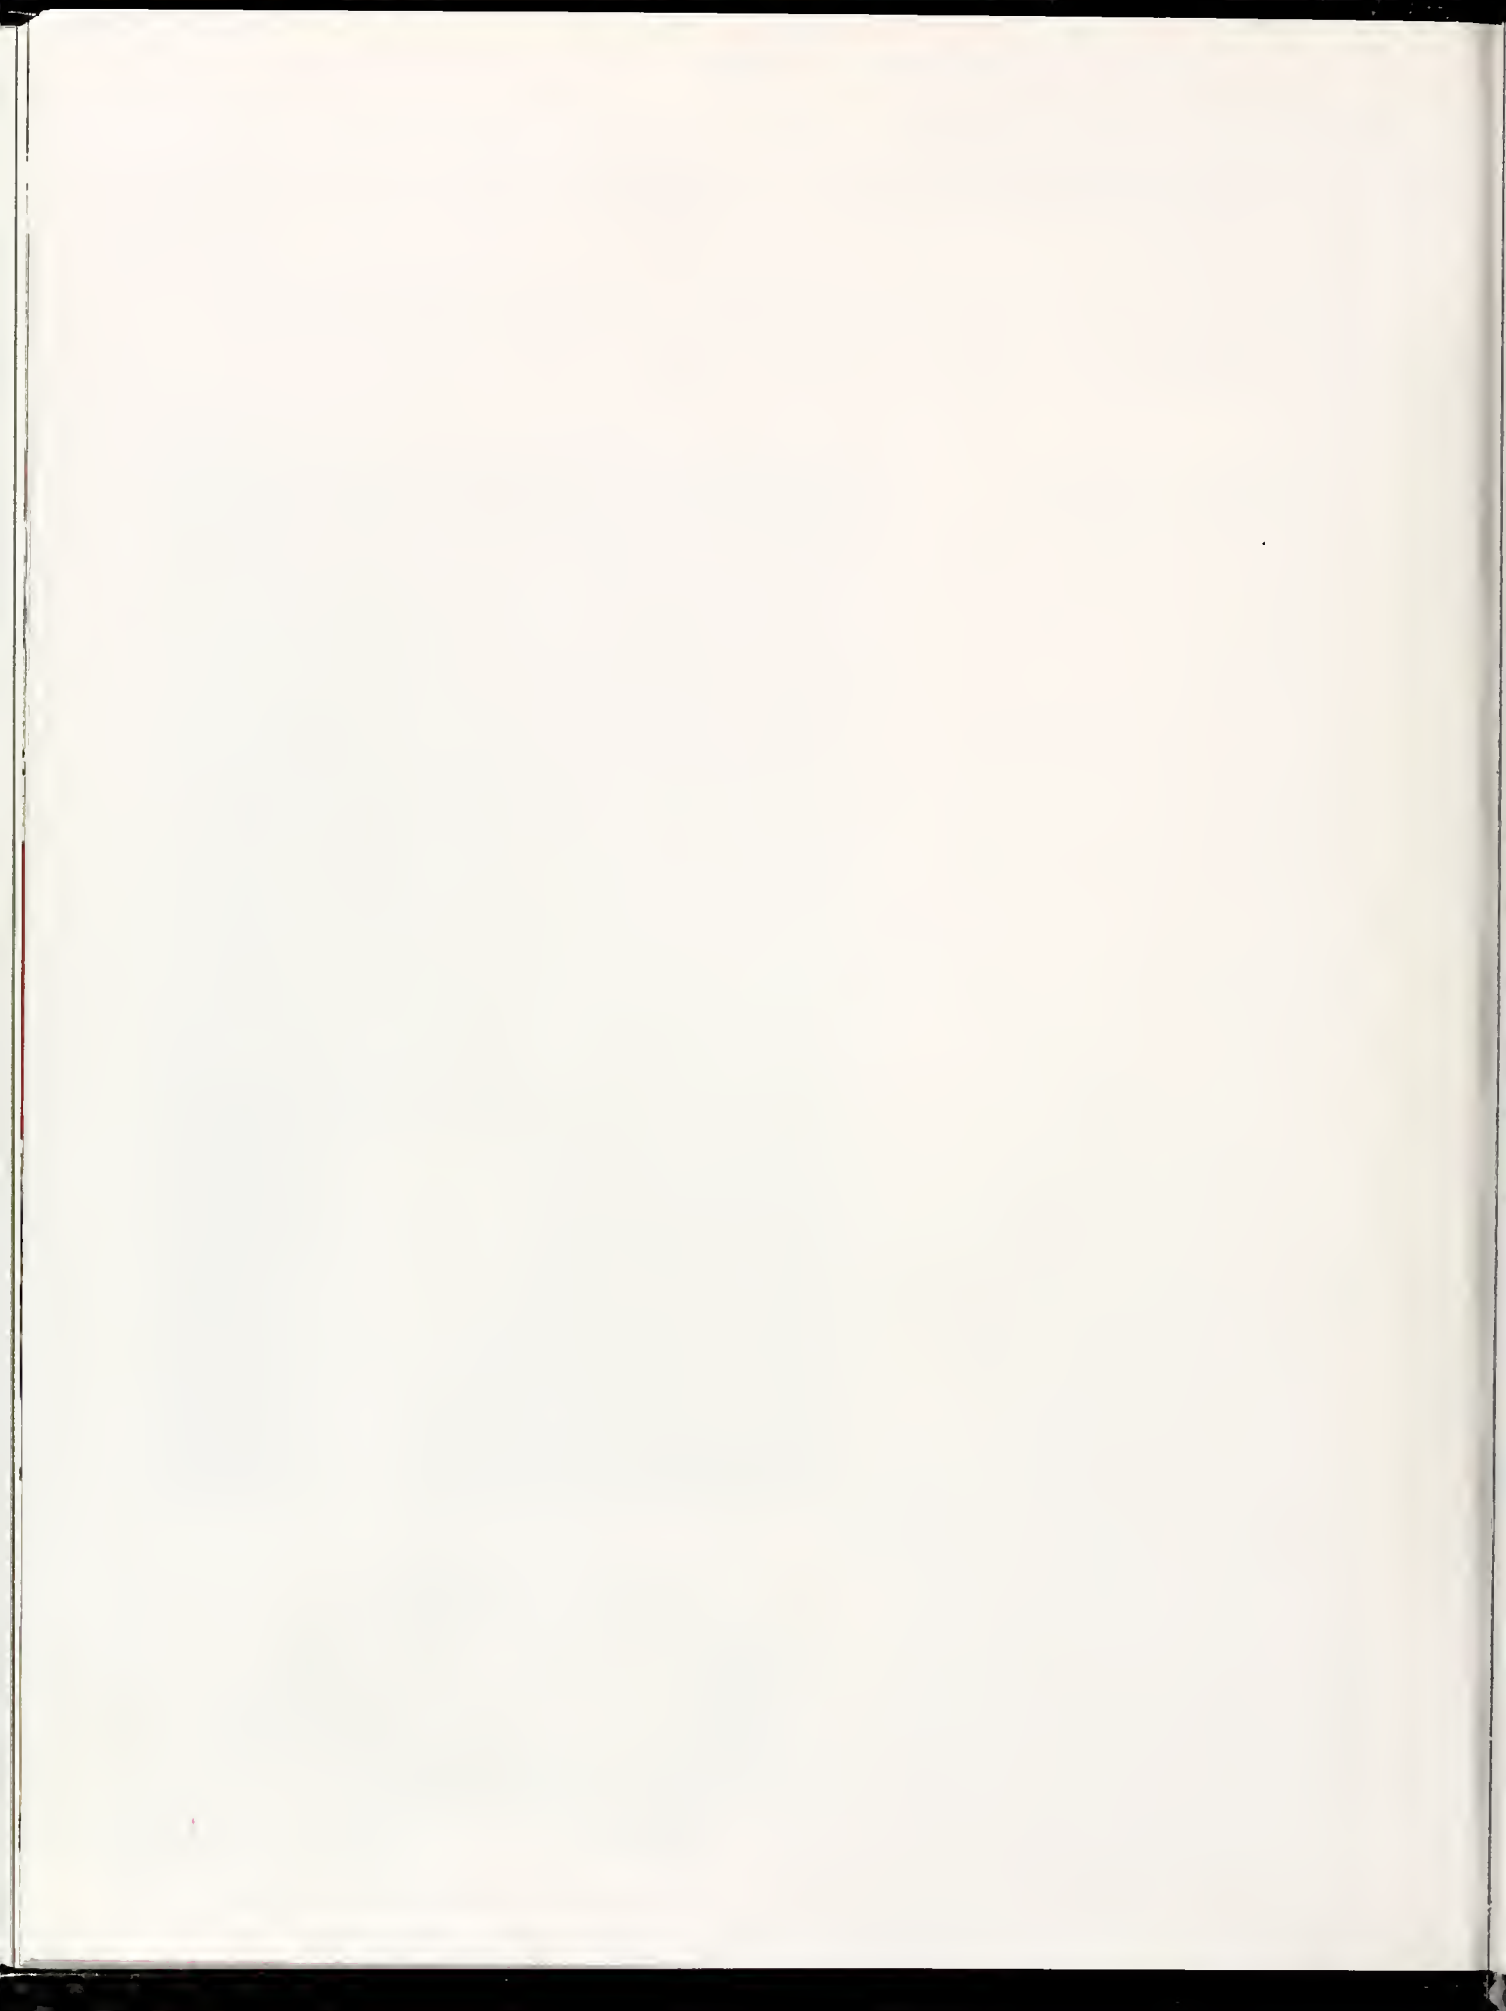

Of happy times
and laughing times
and bright and sunny days.

I'd like the tears of those whose grieve to dry before the sun.

Of happy memories
that I leave when life is done.
